DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3, 5-9, 12, 13, 15-18, 24, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Teleskivi.

Regarding claims 1, 9, 24, Teleskivi shows a spacer (10a, 10b) disposed within the void (22), a first sheet of fire resistant insulating material (28), a second sheet of fire resistant insulating material (28), a first outer skin (20), and a second outer skin (20'). (Fig. 2)

Teleskivi shows a top rail (24), a bottom rail (24), a hinge stile (24), and a latch stile (24) defining a door void (22) there between.

Regarding claim 2, 12, Teleskivi shows first fire resistant insulating material and the second fire resistant insulating material comprises a gypsum-based material. (Col. 2, Line 35-40)

Regarding claim 3, 13, the gypsum-based material has a fibrous mat (14) there around. (Fig. 2)

Regarding claim 5, 15, there is a plurality of studs. (Fig. 1)

Regarding claim 6, 16, Teleskivi shows steel studs (10a, 10b). (Fig. 2)

Regarding claim 7, 17, the first outer skin and the second outer skin form a void there between. (Fig. 2)

Regarding claim 8, 18, the void has fill material (22). (Fig. 2)

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 4, 14, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Teleskivi.

Regarding claim 4, 14, Teleskivi shows the basic claimed structure. Teleskivi does not show the plurality of studs is wood. Turpin et al. shows the plurality of studs is wood (Col. 4, Line 0-5). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the present invention was made to substitute wood for steel since these are both common structural materials with sufficient strength and rigidity to act as framing members for panels or walls.

Claims 10, 19, 20-23, 25, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Teleskivi in view of Kempel.

Regarding claim 10, Teleskivi shows the basic claimed structure. Teleskivi does not show the first sheet of fire resistant insulating material is coupled to the first vertical edge, the second vertical edge, the top rail and the bottom rail. Kempel shows the first sheet of fire resistant insulating material (22) coupled to the first vertical edge, the second vertical edge, the top rail and the bottom rail. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the present invention was made to use a first sheet as in Kempel in the structure of Teleskivi to couple the fire resistant insulating material around the door.

Regarding claim 19, 25, Teleskivi shows the basic claimed structure. Teleskivi does not show predetermined thickness. It would have been an obvious design choice to have a predetermined thickness.

Regarding claims 20-23, the claimed methods are the obvious methods of forming Teleskivi's modified fire resistant structure.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Tang shows a composite fire proof, heat-barrier door. Turpin et al. shows a gypsum board/intumescent material fire barrier wall.

Claim Objections

Claim 11 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim 11 is allowable for the second sheet of fire-resistant material coupled to the first vertical edge, the second vertical edge, and the top rail and the bottom rail.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-24 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
